RINGING WORDS FROM PLATFORM

OF OHIO REPUBLICANS.

"Following step by step the changed conditions of the years, the Republican party goes forward with renewed faith in the people, firm in its purpose to serve them today with the same sincerity and fidelity that marked the noble work of Abraham Lincoln.

"On behalf of the Republicans of Ohio, this convention extends to the President of the United States sincere sympathy on account of the sorrow and bereavement which has recently fallen upon his household.

"We reaffirm our adherence to the principle of protection to American industries for the investment of American capital, and in the employment of American labor at the American standard of wage.

"We denounce the Underwood tariff act as a law in the interest of foreign rather than the American producer. We denounce the legislation which has turned the balance of trade against us and is draining our country of its gold.

"The fallacy of the Democratic claim that protection is the cause of the high cost of living is shown by the failure of the Underwood act to reduce it.

"We favor such legislation by the National Congress as will provide an adequate merchant marine for the extension of our trade to all parts of the world in times of peace, and will enable us in time of war to provide ample transportation of products of neutral countries, especially those of the Western continents."

COST WHEN A FOOL IS AT THE WHEEL.

The fool at the wheel of the automobile is full brother to the fool who rocks the boat. Many persons who have experienced the discomfort of being passengers in motor vehicles driven by persons fond of displaying their reckless view with pleasure the result of a damage suit filed in Pennsylvania to recover for the death of a girl who was a passenger upon a reckless motorcycle.

The evidence showed that the motorcycleist invited the girl to ride with him. She accepted the invitation, and he "speeded up" until the machine was traveling at a dangerous gait amid the shifting obstacles of a crowded street. An accident occurred and the passenger was killed. The driver shared her injuries and subsequently died. A suit against his estate to recover damages results in a verdict for the plaintiff. It was contended by the plaintiff that when the driver of a vehicle invites another to become his passenger he imposes upon himself the duty of operating the machine in a safe and proper manner to protect the passenger from other than the ordinary risks of traffic.

The proportion of sensible motorists rapidly increases. There are nowadays far fewer reckless drivers in proportion to the total number of drivers than there were when motoring was a novelty and distinctly a sport. There are, nevertheless, a good many drivers who take passengers without feeling obliged to exercise reasonable care in behalf of their safety. Such drivers should be made to pay damages when their negligence causes the injury of the passenger.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Heard on the street:

"Paper says the Japs have taken Penma."
"Yes; the Germans are to retaliate by taking Coca-Cola."

Whereupon, it becomes evident that the French will soon take Parfay, and the late advices say the British have seized Frankfurt-on-Mye, preparatory to the taking of Budweiser.—Carlisle Mercury.

THE DAILY NOVELETTE.

The Fall

Once on a time, late in the fall,
He said he'd leave for good and all,
Father spied him and he did call
So loudly that he jumped the wall.
That's all.

"Don't look down," he warned her, lest you grow dizzy and fall."

She looked, and even as he had said, grew dizzy and fell, fell, fell. He reached out desperately to stop her, and he too, fell, fell.

Fell, fell, fell, fell, fell. Were it not for lack of space the word could be repeated indefinitely without loss of verisimilitude. Fell, fell, etc., etc. It was a horrible distance.

"Help!" she cried, and the rushing wind carried the sound to his falling ears.

"I'm near you!" he responded reassuringly.

And still they fell. Not once, but scores of times, did the history of their past life rush through their drooping brains. They got tired of reviewing it. Such was the extent of their fall.

"It seems hours since we started," she sobbed. "Won't you try to manage it so that I can fall on you?"

From that tremendous height they hit the earth a foot apart and disappeared.

They were rain drops.—Louisville Times.

DO IT NOW

Maysville People Should Not Wait Until It Is Too Late.

The appalling death-rate from kidney disease is due largely to the fact that the little kidney troubles are usually neglected until they become serious. The slight symptoms often give place to chronic disorders and the sufferer may slip gradually into some serious form of kidney complaint.

If you suffer from backache, headaches, dizzy spells, if the kidney secretions are irregular of passage and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. Help the kidneys at once.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney disorders—they act where others fail. Over one hundred thousand people have recommended them. Here's a case at home:

Mrs. S. Neal, 407 W. Second St., Maysville, Ky., says: "One of my family had a great deal of trouble from his back and kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills made him better and he always praises them."

Mrs. Neal is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Neal recommends—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. And the floating dust lay heavy in the air.

Then there came a single "honk,"
While our beating hearts they souk,
And we buried Willie deep with tender care.

"SEND ME A BOOK"

"Yes, do you send me a book * * * not a bargain book bought from a haberdasher, but a beautiful book, a book to cherish—peculiar, distinctive, individual; a book that hath first caught your eye and then pleased your fancy; written by an author with a tender whim, all right out of his heart. We will read it together in the gloaming and when the gathering dusk doth blur the page, we'll sit with hearts too full for speech and think it over."

—Dorothy Wordsworth to Coleridge.

GOSSIPS COVER FIELD: NEWS-PAPERS USELESS.

College Mount, the old school town in southwestern Marion county, 300 decided rebellion among its citizens, has decided that a local newspaper would be of no vital importance in the community because of competition by the gossips at the village store and the sewing society.

Dana Castle, in Marion, told the result of the attempt to establish a weekly newspaper in his town.

"When the promoters met the citizens the other night to talk the matter over," he said, "one of the speakers said he couldn't see any good to coming to a weekly newspaper, because it could not possibly print any news that would not be known around the village long before the newspaper came out."

"Thirty or forty years ago a weekly newspaper might have done fairly well, but today it would be a good deal like the fifth wheel on the wagon. There would be no use for it. The telephone, the sewing societies and the men who foregather about the village store would beat the newspapers out with the news all the way from one to six days."

THE COLLEGE OF CARDINALS

CARDINAL GIBBONS.

CARDINAL FARLEY.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL.

THE VATICAN AND THREE AMERICAN CARDINALS.

IN the hands of the college of cardinals rests the election of a new pope to succeed a deceased pontiff. While a pope lives these princes of the church are his advisers and the men to whom he delegates the government of the vast organization of the Roman Catholic church. On his death they become the electors of his successor. Some of the present cardinals are the appointees of the recently deceased pontiff. The others have held their exalted positions in the church since the pontificate of the predecessor of Pope Pius X., the late Pope Leo XIII. Until Dec. 5, 1913, the sacred college possessed a member who was appointed by Pope Pius IX., predecessor of Pope Leo. This last survivor of the pontificate of Pope Pius IX. was Cardinal Gregorio, dean of the sacred college for many years.

The college of cardinals is of ancient organization and arose from the coming together of the priests who presided over the churches of Rome, the and Francesco Della Volpe was appointed to the office of camerlengo, or chamberlain, which honor entitles him to preside over the conclave, or calling together of the cardinals to elect a new pope. The camerlengo also plays a very important part in the conduct of affairs of the Vatican during an interregnum.

Cardinals Are Mostly Italians.

As has been usual for centuries the college of cardinals consists mainly of Italians. The great dignitaries of the Roman Catholic church believe that the affairs of the church should at all times be held firmly in the hands of men belonging to the nationality in which the mother church finds its temporal home. This eliminates the possibility, it is believed, of electing any cardinal not an Italian. In recent years, however, there has been much talk of uprooting this precedent of centuries, and it has even been suggested that the church might see an

It is generally believed, even among those conversant with the laws and usages of the church, that the cardinals are obliged to select one of their number for supreme pontiff. But this is not so. They have perfect freedom of choice and may place the triple crown upon the head of one who may be not even a priest. In practice, for many centuries, at least, the choice has always fallen upon a member of the college of cardinals.

In title as well as in fact the cardinals are "princes of the church" and enjoy extraordinary privileges, both at home and abroad. All governments pay them honors and each is officially styled "most eminent prince." In most non-royal countries, in fact, they rank with princes of the blood royal and take precedence over all other save royalties. They wear a distinct, red hat, which is given to them in the consistory, but is never worn. They enjoy incomes from the central city of the Roman Catholic church. To this day the cardinals are divided into three classes—cardinal priests, cardinal deacons and cardinal bishops. The first are those who have titular rule over the parish churches of the city. The second administer each the churches of a particular "region" of the city, and the third, the cardinal bishops, were originally the ecclesiastics who had charge of the suburban sees of Rome. The bishop of Rome is the pope himself, and the title is one of his most highly cherished possessions as successor of St. Peter.

Ruling Body of the Church.

The cardinals are appointed by the pope and constitute the sacred college. The laws of the church do not require the pope to consult them, but he does so as a matter of fact, and matters of high importance to the church are decided by the body. The number of the cardinals has varied at different times and was fixed by Pope Sixtus V. in 1586 at seventy-six cardinal bishops, fifty cardinal priests and fourteen cardinal deacons.

The pope is not obliged to maintain the number of cardinals at seventy, and, in fact, there are generally vacancies in the body. Sometimes at a consistory, or assembling of the cardinals, the pope announces that he has decided upon a certain ecclesiastical elevation to the cardinalate, but will reserve the announcement of the name until a later time.

Fourteen cardinals were announced in May, 1914. At the same time Cardinal American pope. The American cardinals are James, Cardinal Gibbons; John, Cardinal Farley, and William, Cardinal O'Connell. To those is generally added Monseigneur Cardinal Falconcio, who became a naturalized American citizen many years ago, but has resided abroad for many years. Cardinal Gibbons, head of the Roman Catholic church in the United States, is archbishop of Baltimore; Cardinal Farley presides over the archdiocese of New York, and Cardinal O'Connell over that of Boston. Cardinal Falconcio holds a high place in Rome.

The cardinals are the chief members of the twenty-one sacred congregations or standing ecclesiastical committees of the papal government, such as the holy office, propagation of the faith, index, rites, studies, etc. They meet in consistory, over which the pope presides. But they are most prominent before the world when a pope dies and they are called upon to elect his successor. Many quaint and curious customs, influenced by the observance of centuries, govern their conduct. In the present instance the calling together of the conclave presents singular and grave difficulties, since almost the whole of Europe is at war and there are cardinals resident in every one of the warring countries save Russia. The difficulties of travel are especially great for those cardinals, mainly aged men, who must come from corners of the earth that are far from Rome, such as Brazil and Australia.

WHY POPCORN POPS.

Why popcorn pops is not fully understood, says a recent bulletin of the agricultural department. Formerly it was supposed that the popping resulted from the expansion of oil in the kernel on being heated, but more probably it is due to the expansion of moisture contained in the starch cells. This moisture expands, when heated, with sufficient force to cause an explosion of the cell and the kernel turns completely inside out, enveloping the embryo and hull.

MAYSVILLIANS

Enjoying Life at Bethlehem, N. H.—Mrs. L. W. Robertson and Swigerts There.

(Sunday's New York Herald.)

Bethlehem, New Hampshire.—Col. Robert A. Swigert's house party in Sinclair Lodge Tuesday evening has reawakened society's interest in old but popular terms of entertaining, charade and legendarian.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cobb, Mr. Shyness and Mr. Roy, Mr. Harry Waldron and Mrs. L. W. Robertson, the latter a Maysville, Ky., contributed to the entertainment of the evening.

Mrs. "Ben" McGurkin, of Orange, N. J., performed feats that caused the party to marvel.

Recent Deaths of Cardinals.

In December, 1913, passed away Cardinal Rampolla, who was one of the most prominent and best known of them all. On the death of Pope Leo XIII. he was mentioned prominently as his possible successor, but the choice passed him and fell on the comparatively unknown Cardinal Sarzo, patriarch of Venice. On July 31, 1914, Cardinal Lagari, head of the congregation of the holy office and also mentioned as a "possible" or papal possiblity, died. Cardinal Gemelli died in January of the present year; Cardinal Katschthaler of Salzburg, Austria, in February, and Cardinal Koep of Breslau, Germany, in March.

Before the assembling of the conclave it was, of course, impossible to forecast the result of the papal election or even to risk a guess at its outcome. The greatly disturbed state of the world can not have its effect on the Roman Catholic church.

In years past the governments of some of the Roman Catholic countries have imposed objections to the election of any one considered unfavorable to themselves. This has been especially true of Austria, which is one of the strongholds of the church in Europe. Italy also asserts the right to have on the throne of St. Peter a pope not unfavorable to itself since the position of the pope in Rome, the former seat of his temporal authority, is one of great delicacy and difficulty.

Probably the expansion of the air with in the seed coat also plays some part in the process.

Also the cost of living was lower in the good old times when the promise of a banana on Saturday would keep a boy good all the week.

SEASONABLE BEVERAGE

Great charm bath tea, some fragrant blend. Sipped with a fair and festive friend. And even milk bath flavor too. When sun kissed milkmaids hand it you. Beer in a large resounding can. Bolls a coarser type of man. While some rejoice in spirit pure. And others in a faded liquor. But none of these nor any wine. Hath present claim to praise of mine. Hath ever produced the grasp and thrill of that incomparable swift. When first, from care and toil set free, I plunge into the summer sea. And bring a mouthful back with me. —Punch.

TEN chances to one, your favorite ball-player smokes Tuxedo. We have scores of testimonials from the crack men of the crack nines all over the country, saying that they enjoy Tuxedo and recommending it to you.

Also--look around you the next time you pick out that soft seat in the bleachers or grandstand and see how many of your neighbors are packing their pipes with Tuxedo or rolling it into cigarettes.

Size up the men who are smoking and endorsing Tuxedo. They're real men, full of life and the joy of life.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Tuxedo is in a class by itself. It has many imitators--but in the pipe it has no equal. It is made of the best selected Burley Tobacco, the finest that Kentucky grows, ripened, cured and aged until it has reached the tip-top of mildness, mellowness and sweetness. Then it is treated by the original "Tuxedo Process" which takes out all the sting so it cannot possibly bite--even if you should smoke it all day long.

You simply cannot buy better tobacco at any price. Try Tuxedo today. You will see why these men are so fond of it.
